

The Role of The Teacher in Teaching Process

Taryanikova M.A.

English teacher of the Uzbek Language and Literature
Department,
Tashkent Pharmaceutical Institute
Republic of Uzbekistan

ABSTRACT

Teachers play a vital role in the implementation of the education plans at educational level. This role is sometimes challenged by the level of teachers' efficiency in work performance where the educational resources are scarce. Teachers face challenges of the optimal use of the available resources in the production of maximum output. Realization of educational work in educational institutions is a complex activity. The difficulties of achieving educational work stand in the fact that education is a category that refers to human - individuals. Starting from the fact that each individual has its own peculiarities which differ from one another then, the educational approach is different for everyone and is implemented differently. The teacher is the one who has the leading role in the realization of educational work.

Keywords:

Teaching processes, teachers, strategies, role of teachers.

The role played by teachers becomes a very important component and in fact it can be said that they are in way our nation builders. For any student, education and character are the basic foundations and it is laid by teachers as well as parents. They tend to instill values, attitudes and behavior in children right from childhood. Today with challenging environment, in any institute or college, everything primarily depends on the teacher. The role of teachers has become very challenging. It is quite essential for teachers to be social, understanding and friendly nature so that students feel comfortable to seek any help without hesitation. The basic role for any teacher is to create a very interesting classroom for students. Students must feel comfortable with the teacher and at the same time, teacher must encourage students [1].

Role of a teacher. All teachers have the key to provide a good environment for the students. The benefits of having a pleasant environment are for the teacher and students. But before that happens a teacher needs to be well prepared in order that the students receive the best treat. It is essential and crucial for teachers to be prepared because the first years of institute are very important for the students. Teachers need to show respect, caring, become role models, make a pleasant environment, treat students right, instructs them but not be totalitarian, and guides them through the road of success. Teachers takes the place of parents in a institute, they guide and mould the character personality of the student. They influence the formative years of the students. A good teacher coaxes and helps a student to understand his abilities and become a better human being. The children look up to their teachers so it is very easy to mould them to divert their attention to things which are constructive. Students are going to be the future citizen of the country- so it is the duty of the teacher to harness their capabilities in making the future of country bright. A teacher carries a big responsibility in his/her classroom. One reason is that all students depend on her/him. Everything the teacher says will have an impact on the students. If the teacher feels joy or feels anger, it will be spread among children because the attitude of the teacher gets contagious [2,3].

A teacher should be a role model for students. Teachers are respected by society because they are viewed as knowledgeable about different subjects of institute. Teachers have the qualities to be or become role models for students. Students tend to follow their teacher in almost every way like manners, style etc. A student tends to get affected by the teacher's affection as well as love for them. So the teacher should have the professional competence as well as good moral background in order to impart these values to students. With the changing environment and challenging careers, teachers are helping students to manage their careers as well as create solid foundation for them in different fields. Students are very busy making up their own decisions and the teacher tends to become a sort of guide on their side. Teachers should begin the year with clear expectations of classroom behavior. If students are aware of what is and isn't acceptable, they are more likely to be positive contributors in the classroom. Teaching an understanding of social skills and how to face adversity needs to be part of the regular classroom curriculum. Outlining consequences for unacceptable behavior will help students develop critical thinking skills and become better decision-makers. Teachers need to align behavioral expectations with institute and district policies and make this information clear to parents [4].

Providing accountability strategies is critical to classroom management. Teachers should have a system for evaluating behavior. Monitoring behavior on a regular basis will aid in long-term success. Students need to be made aware that the evaluation process will be based upon their interactions with others in and out of the classroom. Verbal and non-verbal behavior should be included in the assessment. Teachers should share feedback about behavior with individual students and parents in a parent-teacher conference. If parents are aware of issues as they arise, they can reinforce expectations and consequences at home [5,6].

Teachers should determine the cause of troubling behavior before attempting to correct it. Reflecting upon the factors influencing a problem will provide a framework for intervention. For example, if a child is regularly misbehaving when he or she is sitting next to a specific friend, rearranging seating may be the answer. When possible, teachers should help students learn how to control and modify their behavior before it escalates into a larger issue. Teachers need to work together to reinforce intervention strategies. This will underscore behavioral expectations and maximize success.

References

1. Salima Babaeva , Hilola Alimova , Nafisa Elmuratova , Khojarbibi Ataniyazova , Gavhar Musaeva "Key Directions And Problems Of Professional Training Of Future Teachers Of Foreign Languages" International Journal of Advanced Science and Technology Vol. 29, No. 7, (2020), pp. 2049-2053;
2. Karimova N.S. Isakova M.B. Abdurazikova D.U. "EFFECTIVENESS OF CASE STUDY IN TEACHING FOREIGN LANGUAGES" , "Экономика и социум" №4(83) 2021; www.iupr.ru;
3. Benson, David, Lu Mattson and Les Adler (1995). Prompt Feedback. In Susan Rickey Hatfield (Ed.), The Seven Principles In Action (55-66). Bolton, MA: Anker Publishing Company, Inc.
4. Brown, David G. and Curtis W. Ellison (1995). What is Active Learning?. In Susan Rickey Hatfield (Ed.), The Seven Principles In Action (39-53). Bolton, MA: Anker Publishing Company, Inc.
5. Bunda, Mary A. (1993). The Seven Principles for Good Practice in Undergraduate Education. Instructional Exchange 4 (1-6), 1-4. [4].

6. Codde, Joseph (2000). Applying the Seven Principles for Good Practice in Undergraduate Education. {Online}.