Much of contemporary art is so modernized that it often surprises the viewer, often there is an idea ahead and the use of any object to convey this idea, which many artists use. Contemporary art is an important spiritual food for humanity, like air, for example, many artists who convey emotions and ideas in famous galleries of the XXI century. He is free in his work, and his goal is to convey these emotions to the audience in different ways, today it no longer matters what material will be used to create works of contemporary art and how the exhibition will be held. Artists often use performance to make their intentions understandable to the public. Contemporary art is a very broad term and seems concrete.

Impressions. Contemporary art was in its time also Baroque, Impressionism, Cubism, etc. That is, everything innovative and new in art. However, in the English-speaking world, this word was given specificity, and it became the defining feature of a certain art form. My already famous oil mosaic, the author of which I am, turned out to be really interesting for many countries of the world. This is the theory of creating modern frescoes and stained glass windows, going back to the simple methodology of oil painting.

And today I want to talk also about my project with interesting miniature works. Compiled paintings, which are also different and interesting. From a commercial point of view, not a single record of this style of work has been broken.

Akhalart

Miniature painting appeared in literary works in the XII century, special attention in miniatures is paid to contours, sharp colors, rounded silhouettes.

To convey other feelings. Miniatures of the book depicted a fabulous, idealized world of the heroes of the works.

Miniatures created during Ottoman rule occupy an important place in Islamic art. Miniature painting is a very detailed painting on a very small scale.

Expression of the artist's state of mind, demonstration of thoughts and emotions in the form of their works.

My new passion for miniature compositions

One full-length narrative composition with many works interested art historians and art historians after my exhibition in New York. With this type of work, we've got a narrative work that is able to present the whole story. The visitor acts as a full-fledged canvas.

For example, the fish that were my paintings, which are full of many miniature drawings, already completed in tiny small compositions, turned out to be the most popular.

For example, memories of a work not only made it into many art catalogs, but its content turned out to be very emotional, in which the viewer saw his past life, and the perception of such a work became for him an important means of thinking about what was happening.

The memoirs were sold for many thousands of dollars and got into the collection of a famous female collector.

The woman I depicted on her back and her dress were completely filled with ready-made drawings depicting different situations from this woman's life. As we were told, it turned out to be a sensitive emotional visitor. And the fish as a symbol of the ancestral land and many important organisms in which the life of one family was completely enriched with miniature compositions, turned out to be one of the most interesting works. These types of works have a visually rich, overloaded visual effect on the viewer, while the observer forces the viewer to awaken his own life memories and fragments.

These are pictures in a picture!

Landscapes, still lifes, portraits from 5 cm to 10 cm Their scale is so small that the work is carried out with the help of a special loop for the master.

My passion is like painting jewelry, and it's a pretty complicated way to get results.

Portraits in 7 SMS, of course, are the most difficult to create, but in the finished composition their effect is stunning.

Fish, which has traveled to world galleries and is included in many catalogs, is the only fish on the body of which there are many Miniature in the form of a landscape or still life. I call this type of my new spiritual state a new artistic discovery that is a new way of conveying the emotions of my soul that make me happy. My work "Napoleon", kept in the French embassy, is one of the first miniature compositions where I tell miniature compositions around the portrait of Napoleon Bonaparte, telling scenes from his historically famous battles, as well as important fragments of his life. All miniature compositions are made out by a separate drawing, individual creatures, interesting in themselves. During or in recent years. A certain number of years will pass, and these images will become the property of history. Works of art from the 1960s to the present day depict several areas of contemporary art that can be attributed to postmodern.

Modern painting is a new modernized art that is very popular today.

My goal is fascinating

Within the framework of the works, large-scale canvases were created, completely filled with miniature compositions, interesting plot miniatures that will not leave the viewer indifferent.
