As everyone knows, today in Uzbekistan the problem of youth is becoming a priority in state policy. In the introduction of this article, in the conditions of modern globalization, an important place in the formation of qualities characteristic of a professional and a perfectionist is occupied by the education of young people. Today's rapidly developing era requires equipping students with sound information in a short time, creating the necessary conditions for their thorough assimilation of the basics of various subjects. In modern conditions, it is required that the educational process be aimed at personal development, socialization and education of the abilities of independent, critical and creative thinking. The entire educational and training process, which can show these possibilities, should be focused on the individual.

As everyone knows, today the problem of youth in Uzbekistan is a priority in public policy. In the introduction to this article, in the current conditions of globalization, the comprehensive adult education of a person through the education and education of young people plays an important role in the formation of qualities inherent in perfection and a qualified specialist in it. Today's fast-paced era requires students to arm themselves with both short-term and well-founded information, to create the necessary conditions for the thorough assimilation of various subject bases by them. In modern conditions, it is required to focus on the development, socialization of the personality and the education of independent, critical, creative thinking skills in it, according to all the possibilities of the educational process. All the educational process that has been able to show these opportunities should be aimed at the individual.

In the theoretical part of the article, personality-oriented education, in its essence, provides for full-fledged development of all participants in society. And this is due to the fact that when designing education, of course, it is intended to find a place in society, based not on the personality of a particular educational institution, but, first of all, on the goals of study related to the activities of the future specialty. In all processes aimed at Human education, the parent, family, neighborhood, community and teacher's personality are at the center of the education system.

The work done since the independence of our country and now the leadership of the Republic on the path of youth maturity, personally our president, etc. M. The care provided by Mirziyoyev is a vivid proof of our opinion. The support of the president and the government of the Youth Union, an effective Institute for working with young people completely new, free from old ideological convictions, the allocation of special grants for young people to study in higher educational institutions, a new type of school that can meet the requirements of the time, the organization of sports facilities once again show how high the After all, tomorrow is in the hands of our youth today. Therefore, raising the younger generation as a mature, perfect person in all respects, protecting their political, spiritual and social interests, especially in this regard, raising the responsibilities of state and non-governmental organizations in a fundamental sense is one of the urgent issues. Promoting social protection of young people, holding events on the formation of national pride, a sense of loyalty to the motherland, comprehensive support for young people in a market economy, organizing new jobs for them, providing grants for high knowledge, searching for talented children in our republic and making them laugh is a requirement of the period.

Also, the Ministry of Higher and secondary special education of Uzbekistan plans to create permanent commissions on the implementation of humanitarian education and educational work in educational institutions of Higher and secondary special, public education system, organize the establishment of friendly relations between children and adolescents with foreign languages, develop various manuals and recommendations, and carry out several other activities in order to determine the

The president of our country, thinking about small and private entrepreneurship, said: "... we can solve the acute problem of employment of the population, especially in rural areas and areas where there is excess labor, only at the expense of comprehensive, extensive development of small and private entrepreneurship." In the same way, the main attention should be paid to working with young entrepreneurs in villages and districts, supporting them, innovative reforms in the new business education system: creating places in the eyes of scientists and young people. It is known that in 1991, the first law "on the foundations of State Youth Policy in the Republic of Uzbekistan" was adopted in Uzbekistan on the territory of the CIS. In the early days of independence, in practice, many political-organizational programs were implemented on the basis of this important document, which determined the strategy of the state in the issue of youth.

As a practical result of the article, a holistic and effective system of working with young people has emerged in our country. It is no secret that as we gain experience in the construction of statehood, our legislative sphere is becoming more thorough and solid. In every speech, in every speech, the president draws attention to the fact that the upbringing of the younger generation is a priority. Speaking at the session of the Council of the Andijan region, they once again touched upon the issue of youth and said: "We all know very well: the period from 15 to 18 years is the most delicate, most complex period in human life. At this age, human consciousness, behavior and morality, spiritual image are completely formed. Who can guarantee that in the future they will grow up to be perfect people if we leave our children who have not yet lost their bones to their state and do not engage in upbringing, science and spirituality? Who will we put in the hands of our society, the future of our state? When we think of the perspective of our society, the taqtiri of our nation, the iqbalini, the happiness of happiness, the first

In the era rich in development and transformation of our republic, the harmonization of man is the perfection, the demand and need of the present. Youth education is the most pressing problem of our time. Children are the future of our state, not family and parents. The fate of the future generation requires great responsibility from our society and, therefore, from each of us. In every family and every society wants its offspring to grow into spiritually mature people. School, family, neighborhood and public cooperation are important in increasing the level of educational work among young people, developing its various methods, solving such a huge responsible, honorable task. Previously, in the era there were good phrases "your father-mother of the seven armies", when our children swore something, everyone who was walking down the street did not look indifferent, and everyone understood this correctly, and now, when such events are taught to take away from the kurmas and to some parents, "what do you do, you can not look at

Innovative reforms in the education system: in the eyes of scientists and young people, crime is on the rise as a result of what has now been learned and unknowingly done among young people. This is a consequence of the fact that parents pay little attention to the conditions for students not to waste their free time from classes or shut them down with the game and work they love. The management of students, their educational and educational activities have so far been entrusted to pedagogical teams in schools, only the school was engaged in the upbringing of children. Indeed, on the eve of September 1, parents live with the need to send their children into the arms of knowledge. And then some parents do not even pay attention to the achievements and shortcomings of their children in their studies. Educational work with children and adolescents in the neighborhood, paying attention to physical education activities in the organization, the organization of special sports and wellness grounds, in meaningful spending of children's free time, in strengthening their health

Upbringing has three iddis: Family, School and public. Only when these sources of upbringing are healthy will the intended goal be achieved. To treat the child too humanly: it is necessary to study his inner world, share the pain of grief, joy. "Why did he become a bad boy?" "What do you need to do to make her good?" Family and school should find answers to these questions. Expanding children's understanding of behavior should give a wider understanding of selfishness, arrogance, striving for their own benefit, as well as bad habits.

Regularly studying the achievements and shortcomings of children. it is also advisable to identify the wrong letter-actions and show exemplary qualities as an example, reprimand them. It is necessary to be caring towards people in children, to be polite, polite, condescending, to overcome obstacles in achieving a goal, to take care of oneself, to instill sincerity, order-competence, to notice the news, to be demanding, affectionate, consequential, to encourage these qualities, as well as to condemn such bad habits as rudeness, malice, laziness, irresponsibility, extravagance, senselessness. The use of folk articles such as "humble, humble and simple man is a beautiful person whom everyone will fall in love with", "Humble-Kemal, manmanga-zavol", "the boy is dear-his manners are dear to him", examples of works of art, narratives will quickly affect the child. Parents should not notice that they are giving birth to their lives because of the fact that they avowed their children, volunteered. It is not necessary to blindly fall in love with love and notice that they are making them "Majesties". First of all, the parent caresses, kisses his child, undresses with every act of it, and then innovational reforms in the education system: through the eyes of scientists and young people, he advances it, stagnates if it falls, and also believes in ordering work. And then they wonder why they neglect their children, why they are not interested in anything. Maybe there would be absolutely no criminals in our life when the child, together with the child, accompanied him to the cinema, theater and discussed together the negative, positive aspects of the films, performances seen. When the parents of minors who have committed some crime ask the court to tell them about their children during the trial, they always say that their children improve, did not offend someone.

The child does not know whether he has an active or passive attitude to the work of society, the questions in this direction they are alien to uchui and do not even imagine that parents can think about the duty of their child to the state property, to the society|front. When they have a child from an early age, a house Ermak, a huntress, gradually they become a wearable consumer who eats and drinks well. Now they are difficult to manage. Those are now parents "what do I do?" "How unhappy I am, a tekiniq, bemehr turned out to be a child," they are offended. Every parent should be an artist of upbringing. What is the art of upbringing itself? This is the art of loving children. Human Love is a high human culture. There is such a saying in our people. "The holy duty of parents is determined not only by the fact that they gave birth to a child, but by the fact that the child was well brought up."

In conclusion, it is worth noting that the upbringing of a harmonious, patriotic healthy generation is not only the task of an elegant parent or educational institution, but we are all equally responsible for this. It should not be forgotten at all that for education-Garbia to take place correctly, there must be unity in the Family, Educational Institution and the demands that Mahalla puts on young people.
