ABSTRACT

It is the duty of every young generation in our country to get the right education, grow and contribute to the development of our country. I'm not mistaken in saying that the biggest task is with teachers. It is the duty of every educator to direct the child from an early age to think correctly, to form the right worldview. In this article, I thought about the role of primary school teachers in our society and the methods they should use.

Keywords:

Knowledgeable, competent, pedagogical, broadening the horizons, science and technology, competent, speech, attention, ability, parasitic words, slang words.

We all know that young people who are growing up thirsting for knowledge are the builders and successors of our creative future. He was our president. Sh.M.Mirziyoyev noted that "young people are our support, we are the future, we are the successors of our good deeds." Therefore, it is important for all of us to raise our knowledge-hungry youth to the level of a fully developed, educated, talented person. All necessary measures are being taken to ensure the education of our young men and women, and in the future to grow them into mature professionals.

In our country, which is rapidly developing due to national independence, one of the urgent tasks is to raise the level of knowledge of the younger generation to meet the requirements of world standards, to be aware of scientific and technical innovations, to think independently, to enter life with confidence. In this case, the role of teachers is very important. The teaching profession requires a lot of mental and physical strength, so there are certain requirements for the health of the teacher. The teacher is attentive to the idea of independence, well-developed, has a scientific mind, knowledge of the profession, ie a deep knowledge of the subject, a master of pedagogical communication, pedagogical-psychological, methodological knowledge and skills and be able to quickly identify, study and evaluate different pedagogical situations. They need to be able to communicate all their knowledge and experiences to young people in an understandable, fluent language and not be unfamiliar with educational technology and methods. Must be able to form an effective form of interaction with the class during the lesson, be able to communicate with young people and create a healthy spiritual environment.

Students are very role models. They are more like teachers. She wants to dress like her teachers, talk like them, and have her hair styled like them. Teachers set an example for their students. That is why educators should pay attention to the culture of dress, the culture of speech. The parasite should not use polite words in his speech and if he has speech defects, he should work on himself and eliminate the shortcomings. A speech-impaired educator is unable to explain his or her point to students. It is important for the educator to be able to communicate his / her ideas to everyone and to attract the students' attention. The most important tool for teachers is his speech. The teacher's speech should be clear, vivid, figurative, free in pronunciation, expressive, emotional, without stylistic, grammatical and phonetic defects. Some teachers tend to speak fast, while others tend to speak slowly. However, it is important to keep in mind that a moderate, lively speech will give good results for students to master. Haste hinders the absorption of material and makes children tired quickly. Too slow speech can lead to lethargy and boredom. Excessively sharp and loud speech can irritate students and make them tired quickly. The teacher's weak voice is bad. Extremely repetitive gestures and gestures can be annoying.

The formation of the scientific outlook of the younger generation, as in all countries, is still in the spotlight of the nation's progressives. It is important for all of us to bring up a harmoniously developed young generation and increase their interest in books, to spend their free time meaningfully. Engaging a child in a book can help them develop a worldview and broaden their horizons. The teacher should be encouraged to read more fiction books, fairy tales and stories. Fiction serves as an effective tool for educating children mentally, morally and aesthetically and it has a tremendous impact on the development of a child's speech. The student should have developed several skills: cognitive ability, explanatory ability, observation ability, speaking ability, organizational ability, reputation building ability, ability to behave correctly, ability to see the future and ability to distribute attention. These skills are important for a teacher. A teacher who is able to demonstrate this ability will find it easier for students to understand and explain their ideas. He has a place in the eyes of his students and colleagues.

Students have a lot of respect for a teacher who is not rude and can make the right demands. They don't like the teacher's laziness, laziness, illiteracy and lack of will. The more sweetly a child is treated, the more respect the child has for the person.
