ABSTRACT

It is the native language, the Uzbek language that shows the identity of the Uzbek people, its national integrity and makes them known to the world in itself, representing the spirit of the nation, the people. Our language is the property of our hearts, the great embodiment of our state. Preservation, development of language – this means the rise of the nation. The language represents the Past, Present, Future of the nation.

The day of October 21, when the state language was adopted, is a special cherished, important date for us. This day, behold, has been widely celebrated in our country for 32 years as the day when the Uzbek language was given the status of the state language. Almost 32 years ago, Uzbek was given the status of a state language. It was literally a universal event in its time. The prestige, importance and value of the folk language, which in particular bred such great Siamese as Beruniy, Ibn Sina, Al-Khwarazmiy, Al-Farghani, Amir Temur, Mirzo Ulugbek, Alisher Navoi, Zahiridin Muhammad Babur, is increasing day by day not only in our homeland, but also internationally. Over the past period, tremendous work has been carried out on the way to increase its status, maintaining its purity, with great attention to our native language, one of the ancient and rich languages of the world, as our main national heritage. We will also be delighted by the great attention paid to this issue on the scale of our government in the following years.

On October 21, 2019-on the eve of the 30th anniversary of the granting of the status of the state language to the Uzbek language – in order to radically increase the prestige of the Uzbek language in the social life of our people and internationally, to ensure the full-fledged introduction of the state language in our country, the head of our state signed a decree. According to this decree, the date of October 21 was established in our country as the “feast of the Uzbek language”, based on the huge historical place and significance of the day when the law “on the state language” was adopted.

The holiday of the Uzbek language is a sign of honoring our native language, further raising its destiny and value. At the moment, this holiday is a holiday of everyone who struggles, does not get tired of learning, promoting the Uzbek language, cares for its purity, wealth and prestige even more. It is a holiday of almost 50 million people who speak Uzbek on Earth.

On September 23, 2020, President Shavkat Mirziyoyev's speech in Uzbek at the most prestigious international convention – the 75th session of the United Nations General Assembly-was a worthy tribute to the 31st anniversary of the state language status of our native language. This date was ended on separate pages in the history of Uzbekistan. On this day, for the first time, the Uzbek language – the great Navoi-sounded from the high pulpit of the United Nations! Such historical happiness went to the head of our state – President Shavkat Mirziyoyev. This date did not go unnoticed by the participants of the meeting, as well as by the chroniclers of the UN. The tone, tone and charm of speech spoken in Uzbek will undoubtedly give each of our compatriots a sense of pride and pride.

It is no coincidence that one of the most prestigious publications of Turkey, the "Republic" newspaper, published an article applauding the head of state Shavkat Mirziyoyev's speech in Uzbek "for the first time at the UN in Navoi". The article noted that Uzbekistan is the most populous country in Central Asia "among the Turkic states", the population of the country consists mainly of Uzbeks, neighboring countries are also inhabited by a large number of Uzbeks. It is recognized that the management system is being updated in our country, striving for reliable cooperation with neighboring and regional countries. Led by our country President, "New Uzbekistan" states that media openness, gender equality, the end of forced labor, human rights, the fight against poverty, Turkey pays more attention to new and large-scale changes in Uzbekistan, is interested in developing cooperation, the country's peacekeeping policy is one of the most important practical actions towards good goals.

The position of the Uzbek language on large messengers, social networks, internet platforms such as Wikipedia, Google, Facebook is growing. As noted by the hero of Uzbekistan, people's poet of Uzbekistan Erkin Vohidov in his book "word latofat", the native language is a national property, and the responsibility to the language is also nationwide. Everyone who cares for the Uzbek language should be proud of this, saying that I am an Uzbek.
