Introduction. Today, in a rapidly changing world, where political, economic and ideological struggles between regions and states are intensifying, the work of educating the youth of our country, including the younger generation in the army, in the spirit of patriotism is even more important for us. Indeed, patriotism is a powerful tool in shaping civic duty, a sense of personal responsibility, a sense of belonging to the Motherland, an active life position and strong faith, professionalism. Taking advantage of this, we need to take concrete measures to form ideological immunity in our work against ideological ideas, to strengthen a sense of responsibility for the fate of the motherland, to educate them to be loyal to their profession and mature in all respects. In this regard, it is necessary to systematically organize, intensify and raise the level of military-patriotic events in educational institutions, labor collectives and mahallas with organized and unorganized youth and representatives of the younger generation in the ranks of the national army. Based on the above, the relevance of educating young people in the spirit of military patriotism can be seen in the following:

- First, the lack of an organization at the national level to coordinate the work of educating young people in the spirit of military patriotism, the lack of a single concept that defines the system of work;

- Second, the weak participation of governmental and non-governmental organizations, educational institutions and the general public in the work of educating young people in the spirit of military patriotism;

- Third, the lack of effective cooperation between the Armed Forces, public authorities, public associations and educational institutions in the field of military-patriotic education;

- Fourthly, there is a vital need to organize and systematize the work of educating young people in the spirit of military patriotism in mahallas, educational institutions and military units on the basis of a fundamentally new approach.

Educating young people in the spirit of military patriotism is carried out on the basis of the Constitution, laws, decrees, resolutions and orders of the President, resolutions and orders of the Cabinet of Ministers, orders and directives of the Minister of Defense and this Instruction.
